Volume Eight

FATHER LEO J. ROBINSON, S. J., President

Foreword

Contained within the covers of this book is the history of another glorious year at Gonzaga. Many have been her achievements and victories and truly worthy of honor has she become during her fifty-two years of teaching and service.

We have endeavored to reflect some of her greatness in this 1939 Luigian. In these pages her progress in all forms of education, mental, moral and physical, is manifested.

May Luigi Gonzaga, our patron, better known as St. Aloysius Gonzaga, bless our efforts, so that this 1939 edition of the Luigian may be worthy of him whose name it bears.

COACH JOHN W. "PUGGY" HUNTON

Dedication

For the past eleven years he has been at Gonzaga, coaching Gonzaga athletics and developing her teams to be among the best in the state.

Recently he was appointed head coach of the Gonzaga university football team. To us in the high school this means that he will no longer be our coach, inspiring our teams to victory, though we know he will always be with us in spirit.

Thus in gratitude for what he has done for us and with best wishes for success in his new position, we, the students of Gonzaga high school, dedicate the 1939 Luigian to "Puggy" Hunton.

Completing its third year of publication, The Gonzagan boasted a very successful year. Besides ten regular four-page issues, there were three six-page publications and one eight-page issue at Christmas. Three pages of the latter were devoted to "The Penman," a creative writing supplement sponsored by the Penmen club. During the year Gonzaga joined the Catholic School Press Association, and derived many benefits from membership.

The Drum and Bugle Corps which was sponsored last year by the Veterans of Foreign Wars was continued this year with great success. The group played at football games and other school affairs.

With the coming of Mr. George Lucas last fall, the Gonzaga high school band had its beginning. Those who did not know how to play instruments were instructed by Mr. Lucas while those who already had training on an instrument continued further instruction. Their first presentation was on April 1 when a band concert was given in the gym. Since the Philomatheia club is planning to purchase uniforms for them, the group is expected to show up very fine next year.

At the outset of the 1938 grid campaign, the so-called football experts gave the Gonzaga Bullpups little chance to repeat their performances of the past two seasons, and freely predicted that they would not emerge again from the race as city champs. But the team had the same characteristics as all Gonzaga teams, especially those coached by Puggy Hunton. They more than made up in fight for what they lacked in experience, and consistently outplayed their rivals to annex their third consecutive city football title, and secure permanent possession of the coveted Quackenbush Trophy.

SEPTEMBER 23—GONZAGA 0, BUTTE 6

The Bullpups opened the 1938 grid season away from home, and lost a heart-breaking game 6-0 at the hands of the Butte High Purples in the Copper City. The Butte lads played heads up football all the way and avenged the defeat which Gonzaga handed them last year. The Bullpups were too green to make their soon-to-be-feared razzle-dazzle plays click and could never overcome the six-point advantage Butte gained on a second period touchdown.

OCTOBER 6—GONZAGA 14, ROGERS 0

The Bullpups showed no sign of greenness in the first game of the city series, and romped to an easy two touchdown victory over the Rogers Pirates. The outcome of the game was never in doubt as the Bullpups had things their own way throughout the contest. Frank Walsh, Gonzaga's diminutive quarterback, opened the scoring in the first period when he ran back an intercepted pass some fifty-six yards for a touchdown. Late in the second quarter Frank McBreen added the second touchdown on a reverse play. Not wishing to disclose their trick plays, Puggy's charges relied on straight football for their victory.

OCTOBER 14—GONZAGA 12, LEWIS AND CLARK 6

In one of the most thrilling high school games ever played in Spokane, the Bullpups eked out a very hard fought one touchdown victory over the highly favored Tigers from Lewis and Clark. Gonzaga drew first blood in the opening period when Frank McGuigan crossed to pay dirt on an end-around play. The South Siders came right back and scored a touchdown on a long pass from Wouters to Gilberg. But the Bullpups were not to be denied, and after a long drive McBreen scored on a reverse from Wick. The remaining minutes of the game were full of thrills for the seven thousand fans that attended. Lewis and Clark threatened a number of times but could never penetrate the strong Bullpup defense. When the game ended, Gonzaga was in possession of the ball on their own five yard line after checking a strong Lewis and Clark threat.

OCTOBER 21—GONZAGA 20, NORTH CENTRAL 0

Continuing their victorious march toward a third consecutive city title, the Bullpups soundly drubbed the cellar-dwelling North Central Indians in a night game before a crowd of five thousand rabid fans. The game started slowly, but once the vaunted razzle-dazzle Gonzaga offense started to click the outcome of the game was never in doubt. Pat Higgins scored the first Zag counter in the opening period, when he took a lateral from Frank McGuigan and sped twenty-five yards to the goal line. Frank McBreen then followed with another score on his now famous reverse play. The score stood 13-0 in favor of the Bullpups at the end of the first half, and during the second half, Gonzaga kept up the pace and finally added another touchdown. Higgins scored once more, this time on a fake reverse. Mauro added two extra points from placement in three attempts.

OCTOBER 27—GONZAGA 14, LEWIS AND CLARK 0

Opening the second half of the city series with a bang, the inspired Bullpups proved conclusively their superiority over the Lewis and Clark Tigers as they outclassed the South Siders before a night game crowd of ten thousand fans. McBreen opened the scoring as he crashed over from the five yard line early in the second quarter. Walsh added another in the third period as he intercepted a Tiger pass and galloped 65 yards to pay dirt. Mauro converted after both scores. The Tigers were helpless as the Pups had things their own way in winning this all-important tussle.

NOVEMBER 3—GONZAGA 13, NORTH CENTRAL 0

The devastating Bullpups clinched their third consecutive football championship when they downed the spirited North Central Indians in a rough game under the lights. Held effectively for almost the entire first half, the Blue and White eleven cut loose with a double lateral reverse followed by a long forward pass from Wick to McFarland, who safely scampered across the last chalk line. Pointing for their first win of the season, the Indians were hard to stop in the second half, but luckless as they were they bowed again in defeat. Threatened seriously again late in the game, the Bullpups changed the tide of the game as McBreen intercepted a last desperate pass on his ten yard line and raced the length of the field to clinch the win. Mauro added the extra point.

NOVEMBER 10—GONZAGA 6, SEATTLE PREP 0

Invading new fields for their annual game with the Prep school, the Bullpups added new laurels to their already many by virtue of a win. There was never any doubt as to the outcome despite the low score. The Spokaneites romped up and down the field almost at will, but monotonously failed to click near their opponents' goal line. The Prepsters couldn't find a weak spot in the Blue and White defense all evening and failed to invade Gonzaga territory. Both offenses were hampered by a mud-soaked field, and the famous razzle-dazzle of the Bullpups was not displayed. Wick scampered around end from the ten yard line early in the first quarter for the only score of the game.

NOVEMBER 18—GONZAGA 0, ROGERS 13

A slightly over-confident eleven took the field for Gonzaga against a primed, determined team from Rogers in the last game of the year. For the first time in the season the Bullpups were outplayed. They got off to a bad start and before they were fully conscious of what was happening, Williams of Rogers had crossed their goal from the two yard line for the first score. Vainly the Bullpups were trying to come back as Brown scored the second Rogers' touchdown after recovering a fumble. Williams proved too much for the Zag defense and frequently penetrated it for long gains. This was a sad closing to another glorious year for the Bullpups.

The 1938-39 basketball season was the most disastrous one ever experienced by a Gonzaga team, as far as games won and lost were concerned. Because of bad breaks and lack of experience, the Bullpups lost twelve games is as many starts in the city series. The games lost were, on the whole, very close, the Bullpups showing superior power and ball handling during the first half, only to lose out in the closing minutes. Lack of efficient reserves spelled defeat in many cases. However, the dogged manner in which the team would keep fighting even when hopelessly defeated won them the title of the "fighting Bullpups." It is doubtful if there ever was a more fighting team to don the blue and white.

A number of veterans greeted the new coach, Mr. Clare Hayes, S. J., as he took over the reins of the Bullpup track squad. The bearers of the blue and white showed plenty of promise and were expected to finish high in the city race. Paced by Captain George Staeheli, miler and 880 man, every department was well represented. Al Budig supported Staeheli in the long distance events. Tom Campbell showed marked ability at clearing the hurdles in short order. Ray Smart and Tom Cross capably handled most of the pole vaulting. Jim McClenahan led the 440 men and Sam Lappano in the broad jump and dashes. Through the efforts of these capable veterans track continued on the up-grade at Gonzaga, giving promise of soon gaining the prestige that it rightly deserves.

Under the able guidance of their new coach, Mr. John Dalgity, S. J., the Bull-pups became a much feared team in the race for the city high school title.

The new coach was greeted by a seasoned team at the outset of the city series, and he soon molded them into a fast, aggressive group of ball players.

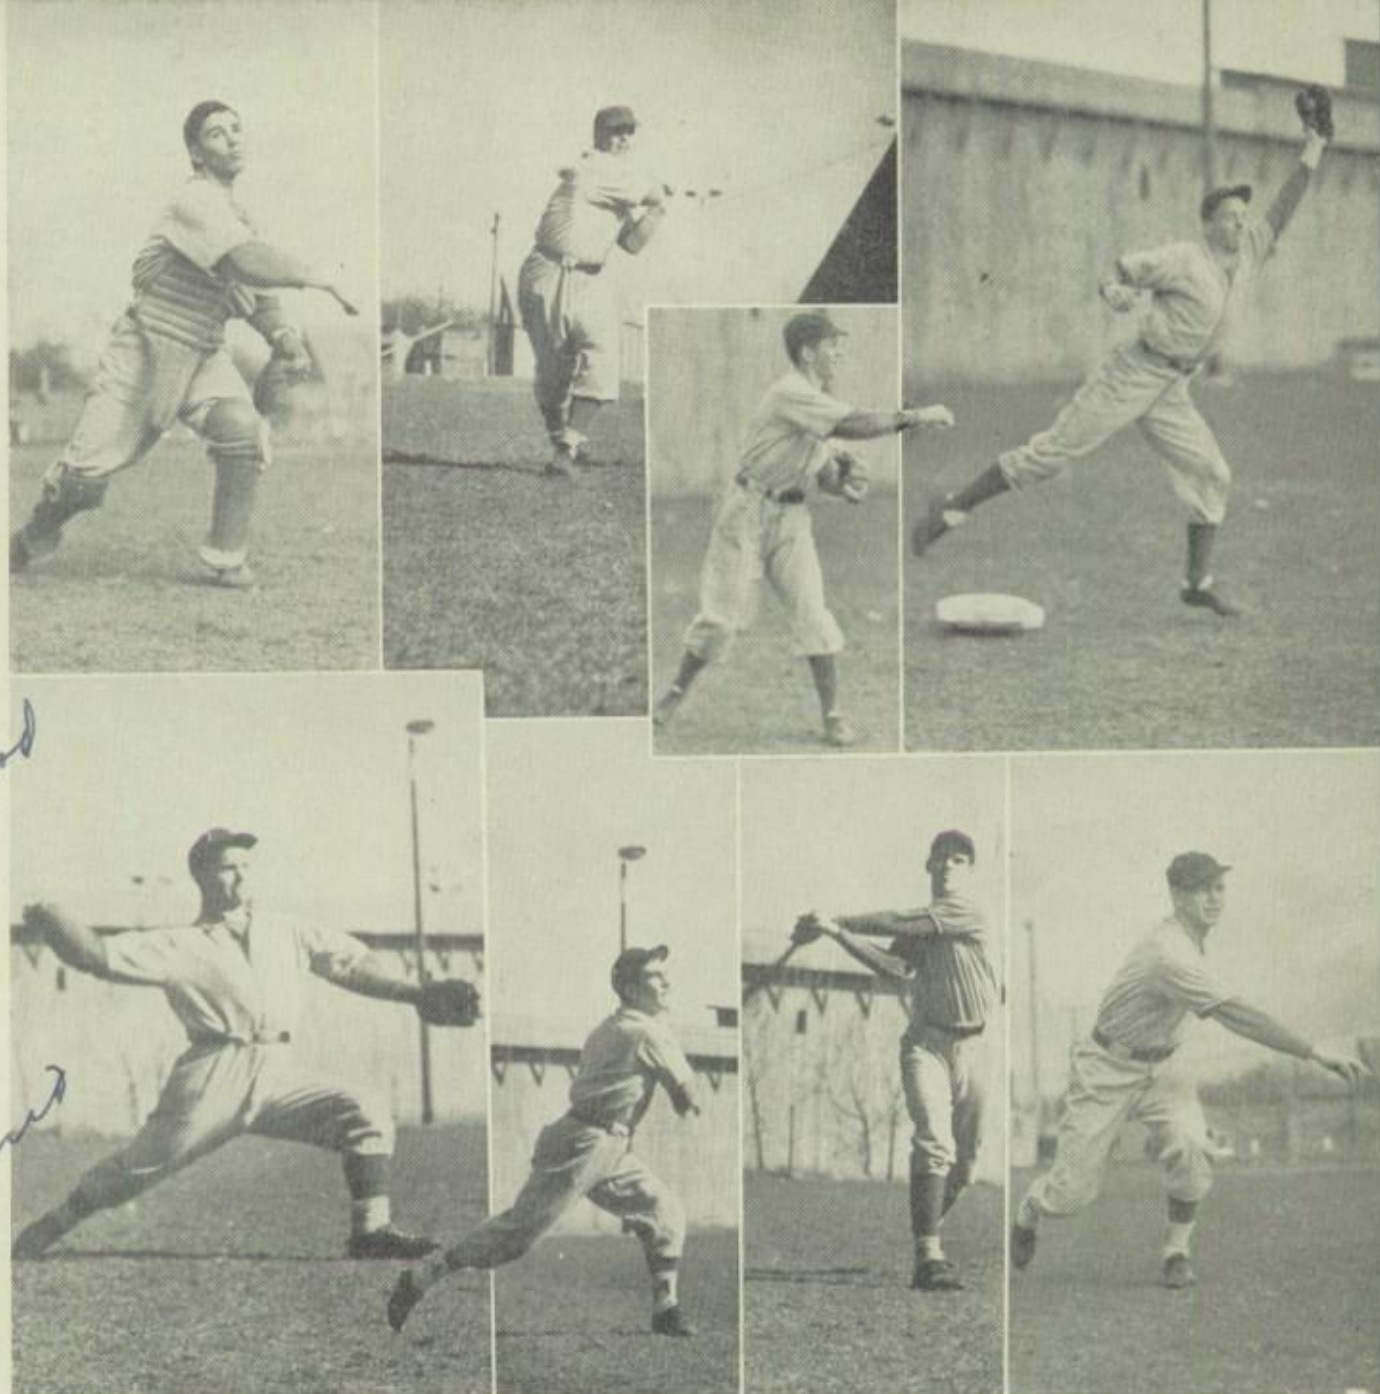

The pitching was probably the greatest source of consolation to the new coach when he began the year. Headed by such seasoned veterans as Bob Gerstenberger, Silvio Mauro and Al Little, the hurling staff soon became the scourge of the league. Len Scarpelli, sophomore sensation, handled the catching duties like a veteran.

The Bullpups came forth with a very well balanced infield. The duties around the initial sack were evenly divided by Ed Whitford and Anton Medved. John Goodwin had things pretty much his own way around second base, as did Frank McGuigan, a four-year letter winner, at short stop. The job at the hot corner was held down by Dick Sartain.

The outfield was composed of Captain Frank Walsh, Pat Higgins, Harvey Wick and Bob Anderson, and combined speed with batting ability.

This will be Mr. Dalgity's only year as head baseball coach, since the new Gonzaga mentor, Billy Frazier, will take over his new duties next fall and will handle all sports from then on.

Gonzaga's 1939 tennis team was of unknown quality before its initial turnout. Led by the only returning letterman, Bill Ogle, and freshman, Eddie Ugleich, and bolstered by a long list of very promising material, the racket swinging Bull-pups certainly left the fans perceiving a glorious reign of tennis supremacy for Gonzaga in near future years.

Golf was another "dark horse" at Gonzaga before the first turnout. Jack Rotchford, the lone veteran, and twelve other untried candidates formed a squad which was truly unknown. But the surprising development of several men cast loads of sunbeams upon the somewhat gloomy aspect and boomed the Blue and White title chances sky-high.

Due to the unforeseen difficulty of acquiring a range on which to practice regularly, Gonzaga's rifle team did not fire any inter-school matches. Meets between the club members featured each practice with several of the more experienced men firing near perfect scores.

After a slow start in the first half, Gonzaga's first organized bowling team gradually gained momentum and blasted through the second half schedule to gain a championship play-off with North Central, winning 34 of 39 games.

Later in the season the Bullpup pinsters entered two teams in the Northwest Bowling Classic.

Outweighed and hampered by injuries of key men throughout most of the season, but displaying plenty of class in ball packing, tackling and blocking, the Midgets thundered through a pigskin season in which they dropped heart-rending games to teams from Coeur d'Alene academy and Deer Park. Their lone win was a 19-0 thumping of Lourdes academy of Wallace, Idaho.

A fast and flashy Bantam football team trod the gridiron paths waging war in a three-game series with the St. Aloysius Jebbes. Although they fought gamely, the Bantams were unable to match the powering onslaught of the Jebbes and were able to capture but one of three games.

A light, flashy, hard charging aggregation of gridders bore Gonzaga's freshman banner through the grid wars last fall, unleashing all their power and trickery as they battled in torrid combat with highly talented teams from Rogers, North Central, Cheney and Wallace, Idaho. Although they did not register wins in every game, the yearlings always furnished plenty of fireworks and thrills.

The freshman basketball team's record in city competition was two victories against four defeats, but every game that went down in the losses column could have easily been a victory. The greenies divided their games with Rogers and Lewis and Clark, but North Central held a jinx over them and won both contests.

This year Gonzaga was represented in baseball by the best freshman team ever turned out. Under the combined tutelage of Mr. John Evoy, S. J., and Mr. Robert Luger, S. J., the first year men became a very smooth-working aggregation. They had an airtight infield and powerful hitters to back up a well balanced pitching staff. Capable reserves filled in well for regulars whenever called upon.

The infield was composed of John Presley or Jerry Doyle on first, Bob Carroll on second, Captain Jim Pieroni at short, and Jack Higgins at the hot corner. A heavy hitting outfield included Bud Stan, Jim Perno, Ed Charbonneau and Clarence Lemon. The pitching staff was composed of Wally Prosser, Al Lemieux and Ed O'Shea, while Frank Viro held down the backstopping duties.

Now that Puggy Hunton has joined the group of past mentors of Gonzaga high school, a new figure looms who will guide the athletic destinies of the Bullpups. This man is Billy Frazier, who has been closely connected with Gonzaga both as a player and a coach for eight years and has carved for himself a large niche in the Blue and White hall of fame. He entered Gonzaga university in 1930 and during his four years of college made a name for himself both as a scholar and as an athlete.

He has a large task facing him when he attempts to fill Puggy's shoes, but he has the ability to teach and handle men and should turn out many successful athletic teams for the high school.

FEATURES

Class Prophecy

BY BOB GAFFNEY AND JOE O'CONNELL

The position of traveling salesman for the Hook Hook and Snap Company is no soft job at the best, and when one has just returned from a business tour of the United States it is indeed gratifying to hear the boss explain that in recognition of my good work I am entitled to a three weeks' vacation. So, with three weeks of pleasant relaxation ahead of me I decide to spend a quiet evening with an old classmate of mine who is now general manager of the Spokane office of the Sisk Sink-a-Hole Golf Ball Company.

Having made this decision I hop into my Randall eight and speed to the "Porta Plaza," ritzy bachelor club, wherein my old pal makes his abode. As I step into the foyer I spy a news stand and buy an "Evening Democrat." Placing the paper in my coat pocket, I knock on the door of the sanctum sanctorum of my friend.

He greets me cordially and bids me enter. After we seat ourselves in comfortable club chairs, my host turns on the Johnson XX and to the accompaniment of music we prepare to talk over old times. The Johnson XX blares out with "Ladies and Gentlemen, through the courtesy of the Amicarella Macaroni Company we now bring you fifteen minutes of hot jazz as played by Herlihy's Hep Cats with vocals by Will "Cut-a-Rug" Dolle.

As the program lags I casually inquire, "Say, whatever became of Jack Rotchford? I haven't heard of him in years."

"Haven't you heard? He's head surgeon at the Haas Foundation. He has gained a fine reputation since he patched up the pro footballer Stub Wick last year."

Static on the air waves and a change of program now turns our minds back to the radio.

"Say, do you ever listen to that program on KZR that is sponsored by the Springer Spring Mattress factory? It features Bob Wert's orchestra. They are really popular this season. The only dance orchestra that comes anywhere near it is Prosser's Kid Kapers on Thursday evening. I suppose you already know that it is sponsored by the Mackie Smackie Macaroon Company?"

"Oh, yes, I listen to it occasionally, but personally I'm not particularly fond of listening to the radio. I would rather step out in the evening. Have you ever been to Bachaud's 'French Chateau'? He built it last summer. It's quite popular here. The main attraction is the unexcelled cooking of Chef Bill Casey. The Rossi Room is now featuring the Anderson Boys, Terry, Tom and Paul, in the latest slap-stick comedy written by that exponent of drama, Jack Freed. By the way, have you read his latest novel published by the Besse Better Book Company? It's a best seller, you know."

"I heard from Pat Higgins, the district attorney at Moab, that golfer Chesty Alderman has broken the record there by twelve under par and that he hopes to make the open tourney at Yakima."

Again the Johnson XX interrupts our reminiscing with "Ladies and Gentlemen, we cut in on the J. A. Costello Cut-away Clothes program to bring you a news flash from the Doyle-Lee Mortuary home. The body of Tyler Folsom, prominent stock broker, was excavated from the ruins of the stock exchange crash. Other bodies discovered were those of Bob Dumas, pushcart vender, Al Kelly, gold brick specialist, and Frank Logan, automobile salesman. Death came immediately to all."

We are shocked at this sad news, but quickly turning off the radio I endeavor to change the conversation to the more pleasant things of life. Pulling the "Democrat" from my pocket, I glance quickly through the pages for something to take our minds off the terrible disaster. Ah, here's something. "I see by the Theater Notices that the "Merri-man Square" is showing a Verzatt production, directed by our old friend Frank McGuigan."

"Yes, and I have orchestra seats for opening night."

"This is inside dope. I have it on the authority of the Spangler-Cosner Actors' Guild that this season they are going to launch J. Vincent Murphy's latest dramatic production, 'The Adventures of Little Sherman Yochum.' The cast will feature Floralee Flower as John Hobbs' leading lady."

The Colistro Chime Clock on the mantel reads 9:30 and my host suggests that we listen to the Dube Delicious Doughnut hour featuring the world famous news commentator "Windy Willy" Dumas. After a boring commercial by announcer Bob Blair, Windy Willy comes through with some hot news. "Flash! A recent report from Kalamazoo informs us that Mayor Ed Beck, with the aid of a soldier of fortune, Jack Groo, flying a super-special Struble Bomber, have finally put down a native uprising led by the Maharajah of Out-Door. . . . And now folks, here's a riddle for you. What well-known Gonzaga high graduate of '39 is now a model for Sorby's Streamline Suit Company? You'll never guess so I'll tell you. It's the cinema idol of millions. Handsome Harry Rose. . . . Here's a hot tip! Frank Blessing, wealthy millionaire sportsman, recently eloped with his secretary. Here's wishing many little blessings to them both. . . . With this item I close the 36,364th edition of 'Hot News.' It's been fun giving you 'Dopes on the Dopes'."

Those hot news flashes leave us limp and we ease back in our chairs. The radio continues, "Through the courtesy of the Pentz-Penny Pumperknickle Company we bring a talk by Mr. Roper on 'The Romantic History of Rope and Rope Making.'" With a bored expression of my face I turn the dial to Private McClenahan's Rank Rookies. The clear dulcet tones of announcer Frank Perno cut the ether in a seven minute talk on the value of Mollberg's Baby Mollifiers for busy housewives. Private McClenahan cuts in, "The first amateur on our program this evening is John Meyers from Ham-on-Rye, Washington. 'How long have you been taking piano lessons'?"

"Fourteen years, sir, and I'm gonna play 'Old Black Joe!'" Discord pours forth and the gong rings loudly. This over, Ralph Mauro swears to give with vim and vigor Oriard's "Oration to the Orientals."

With a bored expression on his face my host turns off the radio muttering, "These programs give me a headache. I believe I'll call downstairs for some Riordon Phiz." About ten minutes after he calls, the head bus boy, Ray Deno, knocks and enters with the order.

Before tipping the bus boy we inquire if he knows anything about any of our old friends. After thinking strenuously for a few minutes he informs us that Frankie Walsh is running a hand laundry under the name of "Suki Yoki" and that Frank Aragone has a corner on the fruit business down the street, or rather a fruit business on the corner down the street.

As the bus boy bows his way out of the room I take the "Democrat" from my pocket and together we glance over the headlines. My host remarks, "I observe that Editor Frank Costello is still bragging about his relatives. Now he is trying to prove that he is related to Tarn Costello, Earl of Killarney."

"Yes, I have noticed that, but despite its shortcomings, Frank's paper does print the news. He has a fine writeup here on the law suit of Bach Beer versus Biner Breweries. I guess that is about the toughest case that lawyer Joe Scioly has ever had to open."

"I guess it is. I hope Judge Conyard, Commissioner of Beer, can hand down a fair decision."

At this point we spy a short notice on the front page which states that Colonel George Staeheli will address the Civil War veterans at the armory tonight. The subject for his speech will be "The National Guard and Youth Building."

"Here's a U. P. dispatch from Hong-kong which says that the U. S. ambassador to China, Frank Krueger, is holding a Turk, McBreen by name, under suspicion of a gigantic fraud in Afganistan. It seems that three Mongolian musk oxen were shaved, painted black and shipped to Colonel Thomas Loosmore of Louisville, Kentucky, as blooded race horses.

"At the left hand corner at the very bottom of the page there's a story that says Don Kelley, golf pro from Denver, Colorado, is making a round-the-world tour this summer. The cruise will be undertaken in a specially built, sixteen-foot canoe. Don will be accompanied by the world champion bucking horse rider, Ben Reeves.

"The 'Political News' section of the second page of the 'Democrat' carries a detailed story about Jim Kronenberg who is running for city councilman in Podunk Prairie, Idaho. The article goes on to state that his chances for election won't be worth a plugged nickel if Warden Witter of Walla Walla penitentiary doesn't pardon his press agent, Gail Billesbach.

"Another news item states that Secretary of Commerce Deichl has granted the Weetman Motor Corporation the right to export touring cars to Joe Re-kofke at the German settlement in Antarctica."

Being a dyed-in-the-wool sports fan, my host reaches for the sport page and glances over the latest sporting news. "I see there's a five-inch picture of Bill Mueller, professional ping pong champ, adorning the top of the page. Right beneath it a local sports item reports that Bill Thurston and Bruce McFarland, local handball champs, will travel to Colton, Washington, and play Joe Bauer and Bob Browne, the local champs there, next week."

He then calls my attention to sports writer "Red" O'Neil's interesting account of the tennis matches at Tumble-down. "According to his account Harry Brown and Jack Dean carried away all honors and stole the show."

"I see that Tony Medved, first baseman for the Cincinnati Black and Blues, knocked three teeth out of news cameraman Ed Burns, who took a picture of Tony when he wasn't posing.

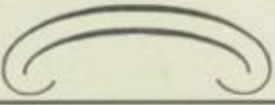

"In a dispatch from the training camp of the world's middle-weight boxing champ, Trainer Jim O'Connor says that Champ Pete Little is in fine condition for his championship battle with Rough Russ Esposito.

"There's a big story here that says President Jim Mahar of the New York Athletic association has sent an invitation to Captain Art McDonell of the Canadian Maple Leafs to play off the world's hockey championship in Madison Square Garden.

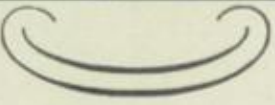

"What's this! Only four Americans are invited to participate in the Olympic games to be held in Java in the spring! It says that the only ones who made the tryouts are toe dancer Al Little, marble champion J. E. Murphy, mumbly-peg champ Ellsworth Connelly and tight rope walker Ralph Bockmier. I wonder why John Cowgill isn't making the trip?"

"Oh, haven't you heard? He must have had something to forget, for he joined the French Foreign legion two weeks ago."

For the second time during the course of the evening I glance at the Colistro Chime Clock and suddenly realize that I have spent nearly four hours with my old friend talking over the doings of our former schoolmates. So interested have we been that we did not notice the passing of time, and now the hour is such that even a traveling salesman feels the urge to catch a few winks of sleep. So I bid my host "Good evening," and take my leave of Porta Plaza, not without the realization that I have spent a most pleasant evening and one I shall not soon forget.

Appreciation for whatever pleasure has been derived from the foregoing pages can best find tangible expression in an active patronage of the advertisers who have made possible the 1939 Luigian.
